FOXHUNTING FRATERNITY

One of the paradoxes of the sport of riding to hounds, more commonly known as foxhunting, is that it should be familiar to so many and practiced by so few. Foxhunting scenes are spread on Christmas cards, calendars, china, wallpaper and what have you in amazing profusion. This is due in part, of course, to the pageantry in which it is clothed. Perhaps an even more important reason, however, is that it represents an era which so many people cherish, but which, in times of tractors and subdivisions, can only be classified as a survival.

This survival is based, not on Christmas card sales to the general public, but on the very considerable variety of people who actually take part in the sport. The general types are familiar. There are those who ride in order to hunt, the men and women whose principal interest is hounds and their work, who take puppies to walk, help with roading, come out regularly in the cubbing season, and never notice how their companions went during the course of a run, but can describe every move made by fox and hounds. Then there are those who hunt in order to ride, who gauge the success of every hunt by the pace and distance of the gallop and by the number and size of the fences negotiated, among them the thrusters and cut-me-downs who are obstacles in themselves.

Regardless of where their enthusiasm lie, the members of both groups are essentially sportsmen. There are also other active supporters of foxhunting to whom sport is secondary. There are those who like to show off their clothes and there are also those who like to show off their horses, either because of vanity or because, being dealers, they have them for sale. Some people support foxhunting because it provides social or business contacts or because it enables them to coffee house with their friends. Some bring horses to the meet in order to get them qualified for the show ring or for point-to-points. The pageantry of the chase and the beauty of its setting appeal to others. Finally there are those, some of whom are scared to death, who hunt only because they consider it the thing to do.

There is no reason, even for the most dedicated of hound men, to look down our noses at any of these types. Foxhunting is a non-competitive sport which everyone is entitled to enjoy in their own particular way. It is the strength of foxhunting that there are so many ways in which to enjoy it. The organization which it requires is elaborate and the necessary expenditure of thought, effort, time and money correspondingly great. Our industrial age is characterized by features which are opposed to it—railroads, barbed and woven wire, automobiles, high taxes, super highways, subdivisions, chemical fertilizers, tractors instead of horses.

The basic justification for foxhunting is that it makes our community a pleasanter place in which to live. Let us make sure that we enlist the support of everyone in it, regardless of their avenue of approach.

Show Support

For U.S.E.T.

Dear Sir:

May I question a statement in your October 4 editorial on the U. S. Equestrian Team? You state, "We have no such public (enthusiastic and numerous attendance at horse shows) at the present time"—who might help finance the team more generously.

You should not fall into the error of so many hunting, steeplechasing or flat racing people by thinking that support of the U. S. Equestrian Team must necessarily be confined to that group. If it is so now, it is only because no intelligent effort has been made to broaden the appeal.

The enthusiastic and numerous horse public exists, at literally thousand of horse shows throughout the country, every Saturday and Sunday from May to October—"English" saddle horse shows, "All-Western", mixed, pony shows, Quarter horse exclusives, Arab, Morgan or Appaloosa—a few operating as AHSA licensed shows—the vast majority organized only under local regional associations or none at all. But they are all horse enthusiasts and my observation is that they are all amply broad in their interest to include support of the USET if approached with intelligence and aggressiveness.

Within the past year I offered to get the USET appeal before that public in one small area of one state, including around 50 shows with an average attendance of not less than 500 exhibitors and spectators—some shows running to several thousands. I asked only to be assured of a supply of good USET posters, contribution boxes or some kind of subscription slips to some sort of bulletin about the team—anything to get it to the attention of the bigger horse public.

My offer was forwarded from head-

REVIEW OF THE WEEK

Mrs. C. U. Bay's Idun Takes Home The Rich Gardenia Stakes Purse at Garden State Park

Charles Johnson

If memory serves (no more than 10 seconds have elapsed since I put down the record book), there have been 35 yearlings sold at auction for prices of $50,000 and over. Of all these, only one had ever "won out" before last Saturday - and then there were two.

It would not be fair to say that at that time Idun got Mrs. Charles Ulrick Bay off the hook by winning the Gardenia Stakes at Garden State Park, for the bay two-year-old daughter of *Royal Charger - Tige O'Myheart had already won her previous six starts. Yet she did need $2,270 of the Gardenia's first prize of $101,750 to equal the $63,000 Mrs. Bay paid for her last summer at Saratoga.

That was the highest price ever paid at auction for a yearling filly and the 12th highest of all time in this country. Sherrill W. Ward, the retiring, brilliant trainer who most recently made Summer Tan, spent this amount of Mrs. Bay's money because he was looking for a top classic prospect and "she looked to me better than any of the colts I saw being sold."

Though he is modest about his accomplishments to a degree which can infuriate an enthusiastic journalist, Mr. Ward was never more right than this time. A worthwhile field of 14 misses was assembled against Idun for the third running of the Gardenia which carried a gross value of $144,475, biggest melon ever offered for juvenile fillies. For the first time the young matrons were being asked to go 1 1/16th miles around two turns. The track turned up muddy.

Idun Leads From Start to Finish

Idun shot out of the gate's No. 5 slot on top and there she remained for the whole trip. Claiborne Farm's Sequoia, winner of the Spinaway and an allowance in her last two starts, managed to stay near Idun until they turned into the backstretch, but none of the others were ever a threat to her position. Idun was increasing a four-length lead as she went by the half pole and she was six on top as they came into the stretch. Jockey Bill Hartack eased her up in the last eighth and she won by 3 1/2 lengths.

Short Brook Farm's Craftiness, a field horse ridden by R. J. Martin, moved late and got second over Circle M Farm's Meant Well, another field horse, ridden by George Taniguchi. Sequoia stopped to a walk after her early challenge and finished 14th. George D. Widener's Armorial, third choice in the wagering, was eighth. The time was 1:45 2/5ths.

Idun's perfect 7-for-7 record equals the mark posted in 1931 by C. V. Whitney's grand mare Top Flight in her two-year-old season when she won $219,000, a record figure for juvenile earnings until 1952 when Native Dancer surpassed it. Prior to that time, Bewitch, another filly, had been the only other to win more than $200,000 as a two-year-old. Idun now has $162,480 in her bank account.

There is a coincidence in her Gardenia victory in that this race's counterpart for colts, the vulgarly rich Garden State Stakes, was won in 1953 by *Turn-to, which was also sired by *Royal Charger. The Irish-bred stallion has had some recently lean years in this country though he has already proven himself as the sire of Royal Serenade, Happy Laughter, Royal Challenger, Sea Charger and Giles de Retz. He was regarded as a sprinter in his racing days abroad. Idun's dam, Tige O'Myheart, by Bull Lea, won only one race in 14 starts at 2 and 3, but she is a daughter of stakes - winning Unerring, which is a full sister to the Kentucky Derby winner, Lawrin, and dam of Faultless. Idun is the first foal of Tige O'Myheart.

To end the suspense which we have built up since the opening paragraph, the only other $50,000-or-more yearling purchase to win back its cost was the Coldstream-Spotted Beauty colt for which Mrs. Elizabeth Arden Graham paid that sum in 1946. Royal Blood won $100,450. Until further notice, I shall stick with the ladies at the sales ring.

Mrs. Bay got into racing with her late husband, the former U. S. ambassador to Norway, in 1954. Sherrill Ward directed the Bays' initial efforts and continues to do so, stressing quality instead of quantity in his acquisitions for the stable. Probably the most successful previous yearling purchase was Noorsaga for which Ward paid $37,000 in 1954. Mrs. Bay paid $45,000 for Asgard, which has failed to win out, and $17,000 for Slaipner, plus an unrecorded but substantial sum for the useful handicapper, Greek Spy.

Mrs. Bay, whose given name is Josephine, in 1956 became the first woman elected to a seat on the New York Stock Exchange. She succeeded her husband as chairman of the board of A. M. Kidder & Co. that year and she also is chairman of the executive committee of American Export Lines. Mrs. Bay likes to bestow names from Norse mythology on her equine charges. Idun, which one should pronounce "E-doon", was the Nordic goddess of spring. Slaipner was an eight-legged super horse. Asgard, it occurs to this somewhat fuzzy student, was a Nordic city.

Bold Ruler Wins

The big horses made it look easy all around last week end. While Idun was airing over the Garden State strip, the Preakness winner Bold Ruler disappeared from five rivals in the 52nd running of the Queens County Handicap at Jamaica. The news there was that the handsome Wheatley Stable runner assumed a 133-pound burden and after leading by six through the stretch was eased up to win by 2 1/2 lengths from Mrs. E. D. Jacobs' Promised Land. Greek Spy, which belongs to Idun's owner, was third and the field was

Rose Tree Hunt Race Meeting

Chris Wood, Jr.

Uninterrupted by civil strife or world wars, the Rose Tree Fox Hunting Club held its 98th consecutive fall meeting on the club grounds near Media, Pa., on Saturday, October 19. Competing with local football games and the running of the Gardenia (world's richest 2-year-old filly race) at Garden State Park across the Delaware River, the only autumn steeplechase session in the Philadelphia area attracted some 5,000 followers of the sport. Huddled in the spacious grandstand, the patrons were made aware of the coming winter as a brisk wind swept up the valley.

Racing just a few miles from his training center at Newtown Square, Morris H. Dixon emerged the hero of the day by winning every race in which he saddled a starter. Edwin Deveau, contract rider for the popular conditioner, shared honors by being aboard the quartet of winners. With no timber horses in his barn, the former amateur rider and trainer of such flat racing greats as Polynesian sat in his box and watched Alfred H. Smith's home-bred, Grand Chal, win the featured Rose Tree Hunter Challenge Cup.

5 Starters in Timber Race

Inaugurated in 1880, the 3 mile test over 21 timber fences attracted 5 of the 6

original nominees and it was a thrilling contest as two of America's best steeplechase jockeys see-sawed for honors throughout the race, Riding Mrs. A. H. Hutchinson's Night Command, winner of the recent Western Pennsylvania Hunt Cup at Ligonier, Pa., A. P. (Paddy) Smithwick got off in front and led Grand Chal over the 1st fence by 4 lengths. Capt. J. L. B. Bentley's Gillian, winner of the race last year, was 3rd, with Miss Jane L. Flaccus' entry of Doctor Cliff and Simple Samson completing the field as named. Running in the same fashion over the 3rd, Grand Chal got in a little deep and landed badly as jockey Joseph L. Aitcheson, Jr., did a good job of keeping his mount on his feet. Showing more respect for Rose Tree's new fences, Grand Chal continued in the same position, never permitting Night Command to hold more than a 3-length advantage.

Grand Chal and Night Command

Displaying excellent form, Smithwick and Aitcheson paced their small field, which was reduced after the 11th obstacle when Simple Samson ran off the course. Approaching the 18th fence, Grand Chal ranged alongside of Night Command and the battle was on. Jumping as a team, they headed for the 19th on an uphill run and as this was cleared Grand Chal showed in front. Gradually improving his position in the uphill run to the 21st and final fence, Grand Chal cleared this obstacle 2 lengths in front of Night Command and held sway to moved under the wire with a 2 1/2 lengths advantage. Night Command was held together by Smithwick to take place honors, a length to the good of Gillian, under her trainer-rider Grover Stephens. The latter took out a rail over the 3rd fence and later came up with a sore knee. Doctor Cliff completed the course, but was a distanced 4th and never a contender.

Other Races

Morris Dixon, with no entry in the Agricultural Stakes, a 6-furlong event for local land owners, saddled his first winner when he sent C. Mahlon Kline's Gridiron to win the W. Plunket Stewart Memorial Challenge Cup. Meeting 4 non-winners over brush, the sophomore wrested command from Mrs. Ogden Phipps' Out of Reach and Paddy Smithwick over the 3rd of 12 brush fences. Running as a team, Out of Reach moved to the fore after Gridiron dived through the 8th obstacle and nearly removed himself from competition. Ed Deveau displayed excellent horsemanship by staying with his mount and quickly pulling him together. From the 9th on, Out of Reach led the field with Deveau steadying his mount for the final uphill pull. Clearing the final obstacle 1 1/2 lengths off Mrs. Phipps' chaser, Deveau

Steeplechasing at United Hunts

John E. Cooper

Some 17,000 spectators who witnessed the Temple Gwathmey on Wednesday, October 16th, not only saw the most thrilling 'chase of the year, but saw the greatest race of a truly great steeplechaser. Carrying his impost of 173 lbs., as if it were a mere feather, Neji came up to the last fence three lengths on top, jumped well, and then stretched his lead out in the flat run in the easiest manner amid applause from the crowd that is only reserved for a champion. He not alone won handsomely, he broke his own track record set in the Brook, by more than two seconds, and all through the running he had to be hard held by his rider Paddy Smithwick. When he moved into the lead, he did it on his job, and for almost a turn of the course, the lead see-sawed between Dromond and Ancestor. Surprisingly enough, Shipboard ran one of his kindest races in the Gwathmey and was never worse than third. After taking the first fence, *Hurst Park also ran close up all the way, but the field ran so close together for the entire trip that it was hard for some of the field to find racing room at times. The French invader *Antonino, with his regular jockey, Claude Maire in the saddle, ran prominently for half a mile, but came to grief at the second fence, sending both himself and his rider turfward. Rounding the clubhouse turn the second time, the contention had narrowed to eight of the

Mrs. O. Phipps' NEJI (1-A) taking the last jump in the Grand National Steeplechase 'Cap, at Belmont Park. Neji carried the top weight of 168 lbs., and showed plenty of heart to win after the bad jump over the last fence. Mrs. M. Walsh's INDEPENDENCE (#5) finished 2nd. (Bert & Richard Morgan Photo) own, and in doing so he beat a really top field of jumpers.

With twelve starters facing the barrier in this year's running, George Cassidy had his hands full, and after a few minutes affected a good start. For a fraction of a moment afterward a minor incident threatened to mar the race. One end of the starting tape caught in Ancestor's mouth. Independence on the extreme outside, was also bothered as the horses raced for the first fence. Stretching to the utmost, the tape finally let go, and both horses momentarily shot forward. Jumping the first fence well, the large field ran closely grouped, in fact this was the order of the race throughout, and it caused many a gasp in the crowd, for a single mishap up front could have had disastrous consequences.

Dromond Forces Pace

Montpelier's four-year-old Dromond, in his role of forcing the pace for his stablemate Shipboard, did a really fine twelve starters. Rythminhim, having failed to break, had been pulled up, and *Evian trailed. Going to the ninth fence the latter fell, but it went all but unnoticed, for up in front, a real horse race had developed. At the tenth jump, midway down the far side, Ancestor clung to a narrow lead of about half a length. *Hurst Park was next, with Shipboard and Neji heads apart for third and fourth. Caste was fifth, with Tarboots, Independence and His Boots also close by and in striking position. Two fences later the issue was fully joined in the most thrilling moment of the race. Moving boldly on the outside, Neji moved forward, and as the field got inside the wings of the 12th fence, five horses rose as a team, Ancestor, Shipboard, Caste, Neji and *Hurst Park, but that was it, for Neji moved on splendidly, took the front, and had the race from that point on. Rounding into the stretch and going to the last jump, Caste, which had bobbed slightly at the previous fence, came on again, and reached

Manhattan Matriarch-Story of Slamerkin

Marguerite F. Bayliss

PART TWO

De Lancey's fields were fair on that morning of May in the year 1769, the surface of the big river shone in the sunlight like a mirror, and the winds from the sea were sweet, when a dark bay filly with the grace of a fawn walked over the grassy reaches. She was called Slamerkin after that sprightly character Maria Slamerkin who appears in "The Beggars Opera", written by John Gay in 1728. She was, moreover, the daughter of the English racehorse Wildair of far celebrity and of his consort the equally noted Cub Mare, who had been imported together to the Bowery farm just one hundred years after the time of the second Charles, that princely patron of their breed to whom it owed so much.

Two men stood together at the bars, watching a filly cross the green field. One was Captain James himself, a tall and handsome man, with imperious eyes, which looked at his filly keenly and fondly.

"She will show them, Robert", he remarked, "yonder goes a winner of the Subscription, when her time comes. Wait until Morris runs something against her - he won't be happy. She is the best we have ever bred. We have no other like her."

"Nobody else has one like her", his companion commented, "If nothing happens to her, she'll be equal to the biggest prizes in England. Not that the Subscription is not a good prize; I did not mean that."

In those days the New York Subscription Plate was a race worth running for, and it took a good horse to win it. Originally it was contested on the Church Farm Course, located not far from Trinity Church at the top of Wall Street, to which as its name suggests, it belonged. In the pre-Revolutionary era, however, it was usually run on the historic Course called New Market on Long Island. Robert Gay was not often mistaken about the powers of a horse. He could not have been the right hand man of James De Lancey the Younger, as he was for years, had he been less than the finest of horsemen. He was right about the filly; she lived to be a horse which no rival could extend to her full speed.

The Bowery House Stable

Good horses were already racing for the fame of the Bowery House stable. Nettle was old enough to prove her worth, good Nettle, Snap's daughter, who ran so bravely for sterling old Isreal Waters. Angelica was bred here, and ran in De Lancey's red. Poppet was a half brother to little Slamerkin, and a racehorse of fame. Bashaw and Pilgrim were full brothers to Slamerkin, and both of them were horses of distinction. Sultana stood in De Lancey's stalls and carried his colors. Lath was here, who had won his English races under the name of Protector, a grandson of English Lath and a great grandson of Flying Childers, both of them esteemed to be among the very fastest horses that ever started in England. When Gay and his employer called the Cub Mare's little dark-bay daughter their best, it was praise indeed.

With Thomas Forth, who acted as stud-master, Gay supervised the development of the filly into the yearling, and the yearling into the two-year-old strong enough to be mounted and ready to train. They began her education on the half mile track beyond the paddock, and spent many hours in patient labor, bringing her slowly to her full grown perfection, while the master and his lady often came to watch and counsel.

In those days a man's racing stable was almost a badge of his position in the community, for the first citizens had the best. Large studs were not numerous, but the quality was exceedingly choice. Governors, judges, soldiers, statesmen, and other influential personages made up the membership of the Jockey Clubs which flourished in all the more important cities; they ran their horses, usually of their own importation or raising, on the courses which they maintained, and which were graced with the presence of their ladies.

From Connecticut southward nearly every prosperous locality had its racing ground. The most noted in the north were the Long Island Course, called New Market, the oldest in America, laid out in 1665 by Governor Richard Nicoll of the Household of Charles II on Salisbury Plain at the conjunction of the Jericho and the Old Courthouse Roads; and the Course of the Philadelphia Jockey Club laid at the Centre Square. The best horses were sent to compete over them, even from the far away Carolinas.

Slamerkin Wins

Four years after the May of her birth, on the 4th, Slamerkin went to the New Market Course to show the public what James De Lancey could do in the way of breeding race horses. They came, those eager crowds, from near and far, to see the boast of Bowery House run her maiden race. In long lines across the Plains of Hempstead and Salisbury the dust streamed above the passing of the coaches and chaises and two wheeled gigs, above the riders and the throngs who went on foot. The Three Tuns Inn at the racing ground was crowded.

At the Course gathered those who had more than a spectator's interest in events. Judge William Allen of Philadelphia was there, with his daughter Margaret, Mrs. De Lancey, upon his arm, both much excited, for the great Chief Justice was a good judge of horses as well as of legal matters, and an ardent partizan of his son-in-law's mare. The distinguished army officer Anthony Rutgers, of the family which gave its name to a famous college, was there; and so was Isreal Waters, leaving his own pressing affairs to watch the first appearance of his friend's mare. John Leary was on hand, once owner of Old England, who still liked a good race although he was far from young. And yonder went another who was no friend to James De Lancey, the younger Lewis Morris, his bitter rival in sport and politics, who was presently to affix his signature in 1776 to a notable Declaration and thereby transfer his clashes with De Lancey from rivalry to open warfare. He hoped earnestly that Mr. Heard's Archer or Mr. Parker's Exanthe might prove good enough to beat Slamerkin decisively.

But, like the gentlemen who owned those horses, he was disappointed. Bay Exanthe ran well, and Archer was never so good, but that day they followed a rival who was far more than good, and they followed her home.

The prolonged rumors of this mare's excellence had prepared everyone to see her race like a champion, but nothing they had heard had led them to anticipate such an exceptional animal. Every judge of a horse who was present at the New Market Course that day knew it was his fortune to behold a racer whose equal was not likely to appear in a lifetime.

McSHAIN BUYS AT DONCASTER

Following the success o Ballymoss in the St. Leger, John McShain and his trainer Vincent O'Brien were busy at the Doncaster Sales paddocks on the following morning, when they bought two of the high-priced lots.

First they gave $8,300 for a chestnut son of Fair Trial, the second foal of the good race mare Spaghetti, who won seven races. This colt is destined to cross the Atlantic to race in the United States, where he will be trained by Tom Berry.

Then, to be retained in Ireland and trained by himself, O'Brien bought for $22,000 a medium-sized bay son of the fine French stallion Prince Bio, out of Participation, a mare whose third dam is Pretty Polly. A winner herself, Participation has already bred five winners including Neutron, dam of Court Harwell who finished second the previous afternoon to Ballymoss. P. T-C.

TEXAS TO CARIBBEAN

Abe Reeves, prominent Tarrant County, Texas, cattleman, who ventured into Thoroughbred horse breeding when he acquired the stock formerly owned by Major General Edwin A. Walker, Center Point, Texas, has shipped six of his best juveniles to a buyer in the Dominican Republic, which are destined for racing in the Caribbean area. Some will go to San Juan, Porto Rico. Reeves also was working on a deal covering his favorite stallion, Sung Ki, one of Time Lark's first foals, and for which Reeves already has refused some attractive offers. This fellow was to go to Guatemala, but the revolution there eliminated all arrangements at least temporarily.

Reeves shipped his brood mares and foals to Bonham, where he maintains a splendid farm, well grassed and with ample water. His last two mares, Margay and Oolah, bred to Bud Bermester's stallion, LuckyOscar, were brought home from Edmond, Okla., where the Burmester sire stands. B.B.

He sired four Derby winners, Niederlander, Lusitge, Neckar and Orsini, who won this year's Derby. R. Schlosser

THREE FOR MRS. WIDENER

American owner Mrs. P. A. B. Widener had the satisfaction of winning three races at Longchamps within the week, two being on the same day, during her three months stay in Paris, France.

All three winners were American bred, the first being the juvenile Neptune II, by Crafty Admiral out of Timely Tune, who was within a fraction of beating the track record for five furlongs, and in so doing defeated another American-owned colt, Val d'Oisans, by *My Babu. The second winner was the three-year-old Beactive, and then on the following Sunday the lovely grey juvenile filly Polamia (*Mahmoud-Ampola) beat the odds-on favorite to prove herself about the best of her sex in France. VIRGINIA

WAR DAUBER

C. H. Crouch of Cherry Hill Farm, Aldie, Va., announced that the stud War Dauber, brown, 1945, by Dauber-Flag Raising, by American Flag, will stand the 1958 season at his farm.

STEADY RUNNER

The winner of the 3rd race at Belmont Park on Columbus Day was Dr. A. C. Randolph's home-bred Black Tale. He is a 3-year-old gelded son of Black Gang-Tellemoff, by Runantell and the victory was his 4th for the year, bringing his total earnings to $14,175, for his 15 starts, which also included 3 seconds and 4 3rd places. The aptly named Black Tale did not start as a 2-year-old. M.R.

1957 OCALA STUD RECORDS

Ninety-five mares were bred at Ocala Stud during the past breeding season. With the last pregnancy examination completed it is found that 83 % are in foal.

Of the ninety-five mares bred, forty-six were owned by the Ocala Stud. Forty-two of this latter group are in foal, or 90%.

Among the outside breeders who patronized the farm stallions were C. F. Henry, William Veeneman, John Hampshire, Elkcarn Farm, W. C. Lantaff, Alan Gale, Albert Perino, Mrs. Robert Burke, John Kulzer, Douglas Stewart, M. T. Horne, Gaston Lanaux, John Keeler, Nat Tooker, Jacob Sher, B. S. Campbell, Bieber-Jacobs Stable, Louis Bandel, James D. Norris, Eugene Mori, Dan Chappel, W. L. Huntley, Dave Nassek, Lyle Phillips, James Wood, Bonnie Heath Farm, James C. Roberts, and Leo Edwards.

KENTUCKY

THINKING CAP TO MANCHESTER

Christiana Stables' Thinking Cap, earner of $208,115 in four active seasons, will enter stud next spring at Duval A. Headley's Manchester Farm, Lexington, at a fee of $500 live foal.

Always particularly dangerous beyond 1 1/4 miles, and especially on a sloppy track, the son of Rosemont out of Camargo, (winner of the Delaware Oaks and Molly Pitcher Handicap), accounted for the Pimlico Futurity, Travers Stakes, Lawrence Realization, Symie and Merchants' and Citizens' Handicaps. F.T.P.

HASTY HOUSE MARES RETIRED

Allie E. Reuben announced at Keeneland that two top-ranking race mares from his Hasty House Farm are being retired after sustaining injuries. Queen Hopeful, suffering from a wrenched ankle, has been booked to Oil Capitol; and Alspal, following a chipped sesamoid, will go to the court of Hasty Road. Both stallions are former Hasty House stars now standing at Mr. and Mrs. Howard Reineman's Crown Crest Farm, Lexington.

The $365,093.75 earner Queen Hopeful, who cost $5,800 at the Keeneland Sales as a yearling, won the Arlington Lassie, Princess, Pat, Orchid and Black-Eyed Susan Stakes, Florida Oaks, Suwannee River, Beverly, Yo Tambien and Modesty Handicaps, and 10 other races in 64 starts over five racing seasons. She is a daughter of Roman - Playfull, by Chance Play.

Alspal, purchased from the same auction a year later for $5,500, took the Mademoiselle Stakes, Yo Tambien Handicap, seven other races and $91,280 in 42 starts over four active seasons. She is by Eight Thirty out of the Miss America Handicap victor Halsgal, by Haltal.

AMBASSADOR GLUCK REDUCES

Because of his recent appointment as Ambassador to Ceylon, Max H. Gluck of New York and of the Elmendorf Farm in Lexington, Kentucky, will sell about 20 mares at the Keeneland Fall Sales and will sell privately all the yearling colts now at Elmendorf. A number of the horses now in training will also be sold. The yearling fillies will be retained for future resumption of activities on their present scale.

FISHBACK LEASES BUCK RUN

William Davis Fishback, a prominent Kentucky cattle breeder, has leased F. E. Morancy's Buck Run Farm. Versailles, along with all the Morancy breeding stock. The new operator, who will take over Buck Run the first of the year, plans to breed yearlings for the sales and to board brood mares.

Mr. Morancy, who has bred the stakes winners Dru Away, War Rhodes, Pheasant Boy and (in partnership with his farm manager, Jess Curry) Lori-El, is retiring from active breeding.

BLACK HELEN DESTROYED

Black Helen, the first foal of the great foundation mare *La Troienne and the best race mare of her day, was destroyed Aug. 17 at A. B. Hancock's Claiborne Farm, Paris, where the 25-year-old daughter of Black Toney had been boarded in recent years by Ogden Phipps.

He acquired the full sister to Bimelech in the 1947 division of Idle Hour Stock Farm, the famed Lexington establishment of Black Helen's breeder, the late Col. E. R. Bradley. For him she won 15 of her 21 starts, including the Florida and American Derbies, Maryland Handicap and Coaching Club American Oaks.

None of her offspring approached her in racing class; but her daughters have produced But Why Not, Oedipus, Renew and Image.

PUCKER UP'S KIN

Dan and Ada Rice's Danada Farm, Lexington, has a yearling full sister and a suckling full brother to Pucker Up, the Olympia filly who recently won the $50,000-added Arlington Park Matron Handicap. The dam, Lou Lea, is again in foal to Olympia. F. T. P.

GREAT CIRCLE'S FIRST

Pi R Square, a recent winner at Randall Park, is the aptly named first victor sired by John de Blois Wack's $285,870 earner Great Circle, who stands at Duval A. Headley's Manchester Farm, Lexington.

A son of *Beau Pere from the Sequoia Stakes scorer Hemisphere, Great Circle took the Del Mar Derby, Cinema, Oakland and Sunset Handicaps, and Santa Anita Maturity. He set a new 1 1/8-mile track record of 1:48 2/5 in the Del Mar Derby, and at two established a new 5 1/2-furlong standard of 1:04 at the same course. He also finished first in the Golden Gate Derby but was disqualified. F.T.P.

*NASRULLAH'S BOOK

Of the forty plus mares bred to *Nasrullah in 1957, 28 were stakes winners and/or producers of stakes winners. This list, given in a recent issue of "The Blood-Horse", if gathered under one ownership would undoubtedly constitute the greatest broodmares band in the world. The mares are owned by 18 different breeders, only six of which breed for the market - Stoner Creek, Claiborne, Dr. Eslee Asbury, Bwamazon Farm, Charlton Clay and Shawnee Farm.

OLYMPIA'S DOUBLE

Four-year-old offspring of Olympia, who stands at Dan and Ada Rice's Danada Farm, Lexington, won two Eastern stakes under top weight on Sept 21.

At Belmont Park, Mrs. Rice's own filly Pucker Up carried 125 pounds to victory in the $50,000-added Beldame Handicap.

And at Atlantic City, River Divide Farm's Decathlon toted 132 pounds to triumph in the $20,000-added Longport Handicap. F. T. P.

GOLDEN NOTES' HALF SISTER

Robert J. Kleberg, Jr.'s King Ranch Farm, Lexington, has a weanling half sister, by Middleground, to Golden Notes, the Beau Max colt who won the Billings Handicap at Hawthorne on his own after having been awarded first place in the Spy Song by the disqualification of Ezgo. The dam, Syracuse Lad's half sister Melodic, was bred to Better Self last spring. F. T. P.

MY NIGHT OUT'S HALF SISTER

Ambassador Max H. Gluck's Elmendorf Farm, Lexington, has a weanling half sister, by *Cortil, to My Night Out, the Phalanx gelding who scored as a member of the mutual field in the $50,000-added Michigan Mile and a Sixteenth. The dam, the French stakes mare *Nuit de Folies, is in foal to Prince John.

Sold as an unraced three-year-old at the Hialeah Park Sales for $600, My Night Out is now owned by D. H. Wells. F. T. P.

The Clubhouse Turn

JEWEL'S REWARD

On the night of August 15, 1956 at Saratoga, yearlings were being auctioned. Among them was a colt by Jet Jewel-Belle Jeep, offered by the Maine Chance Farm of Mrs. Elizabeth Graham.

As everyone knows, prices were running above average. The market was good. Yet when the Jet Jewel colt came into the ring, there was a noticeable apathy and bidding was in the extremely low figures.

Mrs. Graham was present. It was plain to see that the minor bidding on the colt was not to her liking. He finally went under the hammer for $3,500 to Mickey Stewart, agent, and since he immediately turned up as a member of the Maine Chance racing stable this season, it can only be presumed he was "bid in" for Mrs. Graham.

"He's worth a lot more than that!" she was heard to exclaim during the preliminary bidding and that statement alone qualifies Mrs. Graham as something of a seer. For the colt that brought only $3,500 already has won $234,295 in his two-year-old season and needs victory in only one of two races - the Pimlico Futurity or the Garden State Stakes - to set a new high for a two-year-old in earnings.

*SOMMERFLOR'S LAST

Simon Stoel of Holland, Michigan, has bought the last colt from the fine German mare *Sommerflor, dam of the hunt meeting horses *Moot, *Allflor and Fleur de Joie, from Harriet Markus in Albuquerque. This colt is dated to become a hunt meeting horse too, if all goes well. It is interesting to note that although The Jockey Club accepted the full brother to *Sommerflor - that horse being *Samurai (Oleander-Sonnenwende) sire of the stakes winner Wolf Gal and etc, the mare was not acceptable to the J.C. H.M.

McSHAIN SUCCESS

American owner, John McShain, had a further major success when his Courts Appeal (Petition-Da Ve) won the Irish Cambridgeshire, 1 mile, cantering, from F. V. Svejar's Darn and F. N. Shane's No Complaint, at the Curragh, October 5. Trained by Vincent O'Brien, and ridden by Jackie Power, Courts Appeal was purchased by Mr. McShain at the Doncaster Sales of 1955 at the same time as Ballymoss. Winner was favorite, in the 18 horse field at 3 to 1, and was never extended to win by 5 lengths.

I do not believe his Ballymoss will be good enough to win at Laurel Park next month. Certainly he should not beat *Galant Man, if started. This horse is quite good, but has been flattered by the poor-ness of the opposition, (excepting Crepello, in the Epsom Derby) that he has so far met. P. deB-O'B.

THOROUGHBRED BREEDER AT LITTLE ROCK

Major General Edwin A. Walker, USA, in charge of the Federal troops at Little Rock, Ark., currently in the center of the spotlight all over the nation, is better known, perhaps, as one of Texas' leading Thoroughbred breeders and patrons. Gen. Walker's Thoroughbred farm at his birth-place, Center Point, Kerr County, is one of the state's show places, and up until this year, the youthful general officer always had a couple of horses of his own breeding on the track. Owing to his military duties, Gen. Walker sold out all of his holdings this year, Abe Reeves, of Arlington, buying his mares, yearlings, foals, stallions and two horses in training.

Bud Burmester, Fort Worth horseman, who has been close to General Walker for more than a score of years, acted for Reeves in this transaction. B.B.

ROCKINGHAM INCREASE

The 52-day meeting at Rockingham Park, Salem, New Hampshire, recorded a five per cent increase in attendance and a 1.1 per cent hike in betting. Over the three-day Labor Day week-end, 66,524 fans bet $4,022,748.

IRISH RACE MEETINGS

Columnist Joe Hirsch, now in Ireland, observes that Irish racing depends upon a large number of small meetings - there are 38 to 40, most of them one-day affairs - rather than centrally located meetings of longer duration and accommodating large crowds.

REYNOLDS JOCKEY

Reynolds Brothers, pioneer South-western cattle, oil, land and racing family, have added a first class jockey prospect to their training setup. The newcomer is Garner Vinson, 106, and a top rider in various Panhandle points. This will be Vinson's first venture on recognized race tracks. He will accustom himself to Thoroughbreds at the Reynolds Bros. Brazos Valley Ranch, south of Weatherford, where Wayne Locklear is proudly exhibiting eight prime yearlings, four by Old Sol and four by Mr. Chairman. B.B.

CHURCHILL DOWNS SALES

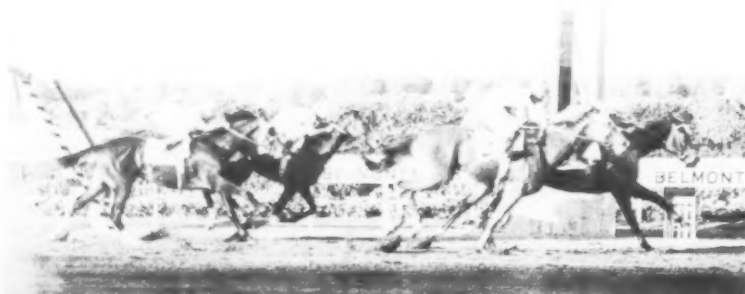

The Kentucky Bloodstock Sales Co. will hold an auction of horses in training, brood mares, yearlings and weanlings at Churchill Downs November 13. F.T.P.

BROWNELL NAMED JC FIELD AGENT

Lou Brownell, a former employee of Mrs. John D. Hertz's Stoner Creek Stud, Paris, Ky., has been appointed Field Agent for The Jockey Club, with headquarters in Lexington. He will assist breeders in registering foals and study methods of permanent identification, particularly by photographing night-eyes. F.T.P.

SARATOGA CONSTRUCTION

John W. Hanes, president of the Greater New York Association, reports that work is progressing satisfactorily on the $3,500,000 improvement program at the Saratoga Race Track. In addition to work on the flat and steeplechase tracks, the G.N.Y.A. is constructing a new barn to replace the one destroyed by fire. By far the largest part of the project is the building of modern dormitories to house stable help.

"Galloping Jim" Parker

Don Henderson

I was fighting a battle of my own with a flu bug when War I ended - and nearly lost it. The fight left me in sorry shape. Our 90th Div. had moved into Germany. My own headquarters troop, which I commanded, was at Berncastle, on the Mosel. I rejoined to find that Gen. H. T. Allen had assumed command of the VIIIth Corps, and Gen. Martin now commanded the Division. Bad news; should I run into him, he would assuredly block my transfer. But I made the rifle to VIIIth. Corps and stayed with my longtime friend Gen. Allen on the Rhine until the last troops came home in early 1923. A glorious tour of duty. Here was the way of it . . .

It's been 40 long years since I watched those raw, rough remounts carrying their riders all over the reservation at Leon Springs, Texas. Martin was one of them. Sort of chap who nursed a grudge - it was my fault in his book. Perhaps he had something there, but he earned it.

We had just made Pancho Villa behave himself, and now were preparing to work the Kaiser over. We had a slim army compared to our new allies, so the First Officers' Training Camps were projected. President Woodrow Wilson called for 10,000 volunteers to test their mettle for service as officers in the U. S. Army. Eight camps were set up for training purposes.

At Leon Springs, outside San Antonio, we N.C.O.s of border service mustered 2900. Finally 1600 were commissioned. Of these 14 became generals and some 300 gained field rank, I was one. Today there are 700 on our roster. We alone of the eight camps have retained our entity and tradition, with an annual "Roll Call". What jamborees they are!

The days of the old glamorous, colorful horse cavalry were numbered, though none of us realized it then. The Canadian Inniskillins charged at Cambrai, the last cavalry action in Europe. We used horses to haul our artillery; it was pitiable to see them suffer. Our 3rd Cavalry was used as remount troops to handle the poor brutes. It was sad duty.

Up to this time and through the years past, we had used horse cavalry as a matter of course, our most mobile fighting arm. The yellow hat cords, the cross sabres, the tradition of such men as Nathan Bedford, who won battles by "getting there fustest with the mostest", lingered. We were rife with characters such as generals Freddie Funston, Treat, Holbrook, Allen and Pershing. Men of the cavalry fraternity considered horses second only to the gods, and they would debate on that.

But over them all, General 'Gallop' Jim' Parker stood aflame with all that the world of chivalric tradition and romantic appeal expected of its heroes. I can see him now, eyeing his favorite "A" Troop of the 14th, commanded by Capt. Casper W. Cole. "Let 'em pass in review at the gallop Captain," and by God sir, we really galloped.... a black horse troop in top fettle in a torrent of thundering speed. And today, I bend a pious knee to that memory.

On this particular day in July 1917 General Jim was due to review the 1st Campers at Leon Springs, where Col. Scott commanded, with Col. Martin second in command ... a cavalryman and a doughboy. I had charge of procuring horses for the instructors on these occasions. Martin resented this special privilege, and never lost a chance to let me know his attitude.

Col. Scott called me to his office - "You know Gen. Parker, sergeant?"... "Yes sir, "A" Troop of the 14th was his favorite. I always mounted him on my own troop horse for reviews."... "Then you know all about it, do your best today," and he smiled, and that was all. I had a tough job to mount 20 doughboy officer instructors, so they'd stay on the reservation at least.

Up drove Gen. Jim. He greeted Col. Scott, turned and recognized me - "Glad to see you're on the officer list, going to need you oldsters, what you got for me to ride?" I told him it was a horse I had been riding... he said "Then it won't be the worst they've got."

He and his aide were up in a twinkling, stirrups adjusted "Scott, let's get down to those men standing in this blazing sun, it's hard on 'em." That was Gen. Jim, always his men in mind. Scott called to the instructors, "Mount up gentlemen please", and away he went with Gen. Jim, at a gallop. I can see the explosion now - 20 officer-instructors who seldom rode, being carried in all directions by raw, rough remounts. Old Martin was heading for the latrines back of barracks, I'd really fixed his clock, and fervently prayed his horse would up-end him in one of them.

Gen. Jim, Scott and the aide made the inspection and took the pass in review. One by one the strays joined the party. It was amusing to see how each took his troubles. Some grinned, some sheepishly ashamed and some downright mad. Gen. Jim and Scott were highly amused I could see, especially when Martin pounded up, mad as a wet hen.

I am sure Gen. Jim's next move was done for further fun. The student regiment was marching back to barracks. Gen. Jim said to Scott, "I must be getting back to Fort Sam." No sooner said than away he went at a gallop to headquarters. And so all the horses were happy as larks since they were headed for home at the remount. Most of them completely disregarded headquarters and kept right on to the remount, about a mile further on, Martin among them.

Gen. Jim, Scott and the aide dismounted. Gen. Jim turned to me with a grin - "Sergeant, damned if I'd care to be in your boots", and the trio went to Scott's quarters, for a drink I suppose. The country was bone dry in those days, you remember?

That was why I didn't care to run into Gen. Martin, the same Martin, over there in Berncastle.

MONTREAL HUNT

P.O. Box 58,
St. Andrews East, P.Q., Canada.
Established 1826.
Recognized since its inception.

Cub Hunting commenced on Tuesday, August 27th. Previous to this hounds had been hunted a few times at St. Andrews East. As there had been no rain in the Montreal area for six weeks, the ground was extremely hard and dry, and scent non-existent except deep in the coverts. Here hounds, and particularly the young entry, of which there were 9 1/2 couple, had their first encounter with cubs. When, by chance a fox did break covert, scent could not be maintained.

Meets were held three mornings a week at 7:30. At St. Augustin on September 2nd, conditions changed most favourably, due to two days of steady rain.

This meet was held at the C.N.R. Station, where the first usually productive covert proved blank, and the second likewise. It was not until almost the end of drawing a very large wood that hounds found. This particular covert was very dense and thick, but fortunately the field had been able to follow, though little could be seen of hounds working. However, when hounds finally came to terms with their fox, the air really resounded with the most wonderful music for which fox hunters could ever wish. Hounds rattled him around covert for only a few moments before he broke. He set his mask in a straight line across a large field, turned sharply into a ditch and after running it for a short distance, swung right handed into the next large field, where he was killed heading in the direction of the railway tracks, and probably his home covert. Scent must have been excellent, for hounds never lost this fox for a moment, and as they broke covert, the proverbial blanket could have covered the pack. A third season hound, Raider '55, was the first to reach him two fields away, with the balance of the pack arriving almost simultaneously, and running to view with the huntsman hard on their heels. Though the run was of short duration the pace had been very fast, and the field was still extricating itself from the wood and the ditch which had a page wire fence, running parallel, and only one place, where it was feasible for horses to jump.

The sun was climbing, and hounds did not break up their fox in the manner characteristic of the later, cooler season for by now they were very warm, and far too thirsty.

Thus ended a somewhat slow morning, with an exciting and rewarding finish.

Since this date, we have met three mornings a week, with hounds hunting wonderfully, and with the added enthusiasm that blood instills. The young entry is giving a particularly good account of itself, and the Masters and huntsman are most pleased with it. Peggy MacDougall

This year's entry, consisting of 9 1/2 couple were judged at the Kennels on Saturday, September 14th, the same day as the annual Hunter Trials. A good crowd watched the judging with interest.

The judges were Major Clifford Sifton M.F.H. Toronto and North York Hunt, and Mr. Roger Maher from Windsor, Vermont.

First judged were 4 1/2 couple of doghounds, looking well and fit. Results were - 1. Tapster, by Lady Currie's Turban '54-Mermaid '55, walked by Master Brian Shemilt; 2. Truant; and 3rd.

CASANOVA HUNT

Casanova, Virginia.
Established 1909.
Recognized 1910.

At the Annual Meeting of the Board of Landowning Governors, on October 6, Messrs. John Alexander, Percy Haydon, and Charles H. Tompkins, Jr. were unanimously re-elected to the Board for the period 1957-60. Mr. Jack Eicher was elected to succeed Mr. Randolph Carter for the same period. The Board then unanimously elected Mr. Charles H. Tompkins, Jr., as Master of Foxhounds, Mr. John Alexander as Treasurer, Mr. Robert E. Palmer as Hon. Secretary, and Miss Alice Watkins as Recording Secretary of the Board. Also approved by the Board was the Master's appointment as Honorary Whippers-In of Messrs. John Alexander, Russell Arundel, Robert H. Rogers and William E. Schlusemeyer, Jr.

Of great importance to the Hunt has been the moving of the hounds to Spring Hill Farm where, under the direction of the MFH, excellent kennels have been established and are ready for visitors' inspection.

During the past season a total of about 30 new panel jumps were erected, thus opening up still more new and attractive hunt country. The hound pack now numbers 31 couples and is in top condition. Cubbing activity has been carried on since mid-August, and several of the plentiful foxes in evidence have been killed. Fortunately, no indication of rabies has been found in our Hunt country.

This season the Hunt will be pleased to pay a bounty of five dollars to any landowner upon whose domain a fox is known to be killed by the Casanova Hounds.

As in previous years, Junior Hunt activities are scheduled for this season.

In order to further promote Junior interest, the Hunt will organize a Junior Staff which will function in the hunting field under elected Junior officials.

Among the added activities which the Hunt will undertake for this season is a Point-to-Point subscription race to be held in February 1958.

Portland Hunt Club Hunter Trials

Horsemen of the Portland Hunt Club really take their Chronicle reading seriously. An article published June 7th entitled "Who Killed The Field Hunter", was the basis for a brand new approach to a hunter trial in Oregon.

A group of members and friends designed a course much as described in the article, and ran it off in the oval of the mile race track on their club grounds in Garden Home, Oregon. Innovations included trotting at a designated spot over a low fence, dismounting and leading over a dropped pole. Several new and hearty looking fences were incorporated along with the club's lovely old steeplechase fences into an attractive and "jumpable" course.

The trials were divided into a green and a regular division. Dr. George C. Saunders rode his chestnut hunter Briarcrest and will have his name inscribed as the very first winner of the new perpetual trophy. Kevin Freeman on his green one Hi Lite won the green section.

The actual number of contestants did not come up to expectations but all agreed after watching the good fun shared by both horse and rider, that next year should see a large turn out.

The Trials were followed by the Gary McGonigle point-to-point which is an annual contest staged by the Portland Hunt Club. A field of four started and completed the exciting event without mishap. Flamesweep, owned and ridden by Mr. Errol Ostrum came down the track to win, easily eight lengths ahead of the second place winner, Victory Bond, owned by Mrs. Harry Samuels and very capably ridden by W. L. Wallingford.

Later in the club house the chief topic conversation seemed to be something like this, "I should have brought the old grey mare, she would have loved this course."

Cleveland Bays

One of the most interesting facts in connection with the English horse breeding season is that a record number of hunter brood mares and weedy Thoroughbreds have been sent to Cleveland Bay sires with a view to producing weight-carrying hunters. There is, of course, nothing new or experimental about this for such great Masters of Hounds, hunter breeders and judges as Mr. Thomas Parrington and Mr. Anthony Lax Maynard, a century ago were emphatic that the Cleveland Bay is the best foundation for hunter breeding.

It is claimed that the Cleveland Bay was fixed in type anterior to the Thoroughbred; that it has density and quality of bone equal to the Thoroughbred, and perfectly clean legs. Far back in the evolution of the breed the blood of some of the most distinguished of the earliest racing sires was infused into the Cleveland Bay. The old hands preferred the cross blood over Cleveland, rather than to use Cleveland Bay stallions on Thoroughbreds. Today the Cleveland Bay Horse Society claims that its sires are producing the very type of mare (now becoming so scarce), to send to Hunter Premium stallions.

There has been tremendous interest in the Cleveland Bay classes at shows this summer, and the C. B. H. S. has received many enquiries from foreign governments anxious to procure Cleveland Bay stallions for grading up purposes. Incidentally, there have been a number of enquiries this year from four-in-hand enthusiasts wishing to make up well matched teams. One wonders if interest in coaching is reviving in England. J. F-B.

Pony Club Clinic

The Green Mountain Horse Association, South Woodstock, Vermont, sponsors of the Upper Valley Pony Club, has been seething with activity this season. Clinics, Shows, Trail Rides and Pony Club rallies have been in progress ever since early May. August 10 - 18 was a week devoted entirely to the Junior riders when the Upper Valley Pony Club held a Pony Club Horsemanship Clinic and Modified One-day Trial. Sixty-three enthusiastic Juniors turned out for the event, the majority of whom were members of various Pony Clubs.

The children were divided into three groups, according to their abilities and the degree of schooling of their mounts, and instruction was given on the D and C Pony Club level... The proficiency of the whole group was varied, to say the least, on the first day of classification, but all improved tremendously during the week and were able to compete in the competitions on the final day.

The instructors who gave so generously of their time were: Miss Iris Winthrop, Miss Lucy Eddins, Mrs. Fredric Giddings, Mrs. Kenneth Watson-Jones, Mrs. William Hall, Mr. Robert Lamb, Mr. Roger Maher and Fredrica Maher. Guest instructors who worked on specific phases were: Mrs. Philip Hofmann and Carol Hofmann, Stadium Jumping; Cynthia Vandermark, Horsemanship; and Mrs. John Grew, Cross country. Several Upper Valley Pony Clubbers, namely, Priscilla Goddard, Jennifer Smith, Lee Hilts and Frances Men-niger were on hand throughout the Clinic to assist in schooling green or problem horses and ponies, as well as help to instruct the lower group and several individual cases.

Miss Lucy Eddins gave a series of lectures each day following luncheon, and Mrs. Watson-Jones talked to the group about driving and gave a demonstration of the same. On one rather warm day, classes were abandoned for the afternoon and the whole group was invited for a swim at the adjacent pools of Mrs. Harriet Hilts and Mr. Robert Lamb in Woodstock. Several pleasant rides were conducted during the week to give the children and horses a break and a chance to ride over some of the lovely Vermont trails.

On the final day every contestant was turned out in his best bib-n-tucker; ponies, horses and tack gleamed; and many amazed parents looked on while their young hopefuls went through their paces. At 9:00 A.M. the B Group started its Dressage Test, followed by a slightly more advanced Test for the A Group. Both Tests were made up and judged by Mr. H. L. M. van Schaik. While the A Test was in progress, the B Group departed for the Cross-Country Phase, led and judged by Mr. Roger Maher and accompanied by several outriders. As a group they negotiated many miles of roads and trails as well as several natural jumps encountered along the way. After the luncheon intermission, the A Group embarked on its second phase, again led by Mr. Maher.

This time the test was a bit more demanding as the group covered a good part of the course laid out for the Three-day Trial held here in July.

The Stadium Jumping was a modified version of that used at the July Clinic, with fences lowered for the A Group and again for the B Group. This phase was scored by Miss Lucy Eddins and Miss Fredrica Maher.

Throughout the day Horsemanship Classes were held in the main ring for those who were not advanced enough to compete in the Three-phase Trial. These children were divided into three categories, B2, C1 and C2, and were judged by Miss Iris Winthrop and Miss Lucy Eddins. The contestants were given a complete riding test, on their particular levels, and questioned on all phases of Horsemastership.

After ponies and horses were taken care of for the night, a picnic was held on the grounds and awards were presented. It was felt that this Pony Club Clinic was so successful and beneficial it will definitely become a permanent fixture. Upper Valley is looking forward to a 1958 Horsemanship Clinic with more Pony Clubs participating.

Milwaukee Junior Show

The 6th annual Milwaukee Junior Horse Show held at the Milwaukee Hunt Club seemed to be in all respects the most successful so far. The day was ideal for spectators and horses, in fact so favorable that some spectators brought their own grills and picnic set-ups in preference to luncheon at the Country Club.

Many good rounds were put in by juniors, including an eight year old and a couple of ten year old youngsters negotiating the outside course in such a way that had the oldsters sitting up and taking notice. It is sport in a fine sense when a ten year old and an experienced sixteen year old compete on an equal basis such as the two who teamed up in the pair class on the outside course for a ribbon winning round.

The trophies and ribbons were well distributed with a final family flair prevailing. Champion hunter was That Again belonging to Kathy Davidson and reserve went to Poppy owned and ridden by Susie Davidson.

Loyalhanna

Twelve years ago this show was started by Mrs. Leonard Bughman to help stimulate Junior interest in riding and care of horses. It became so popular that Junior shows were held by everyone. As she pioneered before, so she will again by preposing to all the Western Pennsylvania Hunts that there be only one all - Junior show each year and that they rotate between all the local Hunts.

The new outside course was a great improvement over previous years, horses could move on well between fences and it was more easily viewed by spectators. Michael Lenehan did an excellent job of riding Mr. Wm. Hanley's Peaches N' Cream as did J. C. Devey on Mrs. H. J. Stringer's Desert Owl.

In the Hunt Teams it was nice to see a full family team when the three Bachmans rode to a second place; in a few more shows this team of Merrily, Nicki and Teddy is going to be hard to beat.

Kay Veatch, chairman of the show, presented to Mrs. Bughman, in behalf of all the Juniors, a gold charm of the Pony Club insignia and the dates of the show. C.B.B.

Otis Trowbridge Horse Show Herald

Elaine Werner

From a platform in a Bronxville apple tree in 1932 to the National Horse Show at Madison Square Garden in 1957, Otis Hibbard Trowbridge has spent 25 active years as "The Voice of the Horse Show". A graduate electrical engineer from M.I.T., until he announced at the first horse show he ever attended in '32, he had been renting out his sound equipment for cornerstone-layings, war memorials, while others did the announcing. Since that first successful show brought him to the attention of interested horsemen, Otis has been averaging 35 horse shows, hunter trials and race meetings a year.

As an ingenious radio engineer, he has pioneered in the field of communications by streamlining horse-show announcing on an electrical-radio-telephone basis. In the face of scepticism, he hooked up the first workable sound system at Belmont Park and climbed the rafters for installations at Squadron "A" Armory. In 1936 he designed and built his own fully-equipped electronic trailer, the accepted nerve center of today's outdoor shows.

Other Trowbridge Innovations

Innovations by Otis Trowbridge are by no means confined to electrical communications. Through assistance to show committees in program printing, he has developed more legible current program listings. Following the show page of the National Horse Show Program is one example of this effort - Introduction carried in many of today's programs-another.

Turning his inventive powers to the problem of physical footing in show arenas, he produced a machine invaluable in the prevention of injury to horses by bits of metal lodged in the tanbark. It is a magnet, five feet long, mounted on small truck wheels, which when propelled over the arena, draws up all foreign matter, including the biting metallic "fuzz" worn off the shod hooves of the many exhibited horses.

Though Otis has never been on a horse, he was once a leading sports figure. As a swimming star at M.I.T. and with the Detroit Athletic Club, he excelled at the 50, 100 and 220-yard dashes, winning the Michigan swimming championship when he was 23, going as far as the Olympic try-outs. As W2NBB he maintains a lively in a Garden conformation class: with deliberate gusto the recalcitrant animal nibbled at the irresistibly adorned coiffure, bit a reproving finger and finally tore the elegant train, all before the exit gate was reached.

There have been moments of unlooked-for excitement and drama: From the N.Y. Herald Tribune - "During the 11th Annual Southampton Horse Show, fire broke out less than 100 yards from the ring, the hay-stoked flames roaring to thirty feet before the frightened spectators. The calm direction of the crowd by Otis Trowbridge, the show announcer..... saved the calamity from seriousness."

In 1936 President Roosevelt accepted an invitation to award the trophy at the Rhinebeck Horse Show. For security reasons the presidential body guards had ordered clearance (including Otis). Mrs.

Otis Trowbridge, who is celebrating his 25th year as a horse show announcer, in the fully equipped electronic trailer, self-built in the garage of Pelham Manor home, intricately arrayed with switches, push buttons and phones.

interest in his hobby of amateur radio and is active in the government MARS program. The walls of his radio room are filled with cards acknowledging reception around the world (including Moscow with an admission to the invention of radio on May 7, 1895 l)

There is no lessening of the obvious enjoyment Otis has in sports-casting. With relish he recalls moments when the equine spectacle departs from exemplary dignity. During a contest between two armored horsemen at the 1934 Atlantic City Horse Show, one of the "knights" was unhorsed. In the difficulty of extricating the fallen rider from his armor, the winner was overlooked. Found finally in a dark corner on the ground, he had collapsed under the weight of his armor. Between classes Otis kept the audience informed by a running commentary on the historic encounter.

Or the night a woman exhibitor elected to lead her own horse before the judges

Lyman Delano, Chairman of the show, replied, "Tell Franklin if he's afraid of Otis, don't come." The President presented the trophy to Joe Moloney and Otis made the announcement from his customary spot.

Many Firsts For Otis

And there have been many "firsts" in Otis' distinguished career: 1933 Miami Biltmore Horse Show in which he shared announcing honors with Clem McCarthy; for the Finnish Relief, invaded by Russia, in 1940 at Squadron "A" unmounted horses against high jumping athletes - 8 ft. 13.6" by horse - 6 ft. 9. 3/4" by man. And his own hook-up for the very first television broadcast from the Garden carrying his voice to 3 1/2 million viewers.

But the greatest source of satisfaction for Otis has been the growth of the horse show. From the 20 classes in a one-day show in 1932 to the present daily-60-classes run simultaneously in two rings and an outside course - from the results shouted through megaphones to the complicated highly effective centralized system worked out by Otis, multi-eared, ambidexterous, velvet-voiced commentator, deliberately impersonal in a cultivated professional manner, avoiding discussion of equitation, never commenting during the judging - dedicated to achievement of the NE PLUS ULTRA in the world of horse show announcing.

German Three-Day Team

R. Schlosser

In order to find suitable candidates for the European Championship Three-Day Event taking place in Copenhagen on October 3-5 a "Military", as this type of competition is called here, was included in the program of the Teltge Horse Show. As this competition was designed for training purposes the cross-country course was comparatively easy as compared with international standards. Of the Olympic veterans only Herren Dr. Buesing of the 1952 Olympic team and August Luetge-Westhues of the Stockholm team competed. Dr. Buesing competed more for the fun of it on his new horse Pandur.

After the dressage of the first day Herr Luetge-Westhues was leading on his Stockholm horse Trux von Kamax (102 penalty marks), with Herr Fossgen on Hubertus (108 penalty marks) second and Herr Ottokar Pohlmann on Polarfuchs (116 marks) third.

This order changed after the cross-country phase on the second day, where Herr Pohlmann's Polarfuchs had the best time both in the steeplechase and cross-country phase. Herr Luetge-Westhues came second and Herr Rainer Klimke on Lausbub third.

The jumping phase on the third day did not do much to alter this order. Only Herr Fossgen, who was 4th after the second day, had one obstacle down, which brought Herr Dehning on Fechtlanze up into the 4th place and Herr Fossgen down to fifth.

The German team for Copenhagen will consist of: Luetge-Westhues with Trux von Kamax, Herr Siegfried Dohning with Fechtlanze, Rainer Klimke with Lausbub, and Dieter Fosken with Fama. Reserve horses will be Fifina and France II. Herr Pohlmann with Polarfuchs, who seemed the leading candidate after his success in Teltge, was not included as he will not be available for Copenhagen.

With the exception of Herr Luetge-Westhues, who brought back from Stockholm both the individual and team silver medal in the 3-day-event, all riders and horses are comparatively newcomers in international competitions of this type. Both Herr Dohning and Herr Fosken are young farmers, who have won their spurs in smaller combined training tests, as have their horses. Herr Klimke, who is at present a student at Muenster University, has already made himself quite a name as one of the leading dressage riders here. With his numerous successes prior to Stockholm on the Olympic Committee's "Scipio", he was one of the probables for the Stockholm team. Scipio was sold last year to Mrs. MacIntosh, Mt. Kisco, New York, but nevertheless Herr Klimke can look back on a very successful season so far. His mount Lausbub belongs to Herr Schockemohle, but has been trained lately by Rainer Klimke. The fact that Germany is sending those young riders to Copenhagen where they are likely to meet stiff opposition, shows that the main object of the Denmark expedition is not to collect trophies and ribbons but to find young riders and new horses for future international teams and give them experience in international events. Probably for this reason also, Herr Fosgen will not be taking the Olympic Committee's Hubertus, but the young horse, Fama.

General Viebig, leading combined training instructor here, who also trained the Stockholm team, will accompany the team as Chef d'Equipe.

Roosevelt Lions Club

Topping all other facets of a remarkably good show in all respects at Quentin over the Labor Day week-end, was the return of Pat Dixon of Millarden Farms to the show ring, after being sidelined for more than a year due to injuries.

And his return was all the more spectacular because he won four of the five classes in which he was entered, and placed second in the fifth.

Riding Limestone, a four-year-old gray filly raised at Millarden Farms, Annville, Pa., Dixon swept the Green Jumper division with 18 points, winning three of the four classes in the section, and taking second in the stake. He also placed first in the limit class in the open division.

Lariat, famed veteran campaigner and a former national champion, owned by George DiPaula, Baltimore, was ridden by Linky Smith to the open jumper championship. Reserve champion went to Rudolph who was being trained by Dixon last year when he was injured. Rudolph is now owned by R. B. Snyder of Denver, Pa., and was ridden by Allen Garner, a promising young rider who also has come under Dixon's tutelage.

Chappaqua, that handsome gray which is rarely out of the ribbons, came through to win both the conformation hunter championship with 18 1/2 points, and the reserve working hunter championship with 20 points. He was ridden throughout the show by owner Mrs. Henry B. Paxson, Holicon, Pa.

Claude W. Owen's Jack Knife, with Mrs. Gardner Hallman in the saddle, took the conformation reserve championship, with 14 1/2 points, while working hunter champion was hard-to-beat Kimberling, owned by Kimberton Hills Farms, and ridden by Raymond Burr.

Two of the most famous ponies in the nation showed up to capture top honors in the under 13 hands working division. Smokey Joe, owned by Billy Boyce III, was champion with 13 points, while Parnell Gore's Pretty Penny, was not far behind for reserve with 11 points.

Ann Louise Overly's Dark Danger won championship for pony hunters over 13 hands, while Bold Traveler, owned by Janet Hanshaw, was reserve with 8 points.

Letters To The Editor

quarters to the USET Regional Chairman of my area for consideration. I am still waiting to hear, six months later. One more season has passed and the USET still remains something financed by "The U. S. Army or the State Department, I forget which one" and that is the view not only of the general public, but of the general horse public.

The USET's financial support comes from only a small segment of horse people because that segment looks down its nose at any horse activity beyond its own sphere of interest and has never invited the others to participate in support.

At any mixed Western and English show the crowd demonstrates probably more general enthusiasm for the few jumping events than for any other class. What richer field could one ask for, to promote interest in the USET.

Certainly, they are relatively small shows - often with mediocre horses by Madison Square standards - but Lordy, there are so many of them, going day and night, all Summer long, all over the country. And a look at the long lines of plushy Hartman, Miley and Rice trailers will tell anyone that there's money there to be tapped - for the USET.

My personal love is for hunters. But circumstances - meaning my children's perverse predilection for saddlebreds - keep carrying me to shows on the other side of the tracks. And I'm impressed by the true love of all horseflesh there displayed - in striking contrast to the cloistered interest in other sectors.

Give them a reasonable chance to think that financing USET is also their pleasure and responsibility and see what happens. I may be wrong but no one can prove me so until it is tried.

Yours truly,

Fred Sailor Harvey

(Address omitted to avoid stepping on toes which should be tender.)

"Investment"

Dear Sir:

The other day I received a check for $10 from The Chronicle. I gathered that this was for the "report" for The Chronicle on the Fairfield County Hunt.

I wrote this article for one reason - a request you made some time ago. I should support your substantial efforts.

At first I thought I'd send the check to some charity or send it back to you because I thought it was "unearned" money. On the other hand, for some peculiar reason it gave me a kick. Perhaps it's the deep down "author" in all of us. I think more particularly it was thinking what a nice thing for you to do.

The idea back of the check and the sense of appreciation was most gratifying. I want you to know that here's one who thinks it a wise investment on your part - good business. The $10 will come back to you multiplied many times.

Cordially,

C. J. La Roche

BELAIR TO LEVITT

When sealed bids were opened in Prince Georges County Court House on August 27th, it was found that William J. Levitt, builder of several Levittowns, had submitted the high bid of $1,750,000 for the 2,226-acre estate of the late William Woodward, Jr. Belair, with its beautiful 18th century mansion where the Tasker's and the Odle's maintained one of the leading stud farms in the colonies, is now to be covered with 6,000 small houses.

Warrenton Polo

Bill Chewning

On August 28th, Bill Rochester, Ken Edwards and Nick Arundel traveled to Potomac, Md., to play a team composed of Frank Wilson, Tom Matlack and Hap Puelicher. In the closing minutes of the game that ended in a 5 to 5 tie, Bill Rochester was seriously injured while "riding off" a member of the Potomac Club.

On the following Sunday afternoon the Potomac Club returned a match at the Warrenton field. The first two chukkers were a bit slow but from the start of the third until the final bell the game was played at a fast and furious pace. Hap Puelicher, high scorer with three goals, kept the Potomac Club out front all the way except at half time when the score was tied up at 3 all. Frank Wilson accounted for Potomac's 4th goal.

Warrenton's Buz Rogers was high scorer for his team with two goals. John Hopewell was responsible for Warrenton's 3rd, and final. (Final score 4 to 3 Potomac).

The Warrenton Horse Show gave a busy time to the lady members of the club. On Monday afternoon, Labor Day, two teams took the ring over for a two chukker exhibition that ended in a 2 to 2 tie. The Blue Team, captained by Kitty Smith had Kay Smith at 1 and Stuart Blackwell at 2. The White Team was headed by Jackie Gulick with Timmie Stephenson at 2 and Gene Blackwell at 1.

Bishop Hollow Polo

Herman S. Ferry

Bishop Hollow Polo Club won their 11th out of 15 games on Sunday, Sept. 8, when they defeated the Media All Stars by a score of 4 to 1.

The Media team had plenty of scoring opportunities but could not get direction with their shots. Their only goal was scored by Buddy Maloney in the first chukker on a pass by his father, Wes Maloney.

Even though Wes Maloney did not score it was his adroit defense work that kept the home club from scoring any more goals several times making saves in the mouth of the goal.

The winners played a fast, attacking game but were only able to score 4 goals.

Though Bishop Hollow Polo Club defeated the Media All Stars on their field at Newtown Sq., Pa., Sept. 22nd by a score of 4 to 3, it was a rough up hill battle all the way. This game was the 13th win of the season for the home team.

The scoring started in the first chukker when Jack Ehmer made his first goal which was matched a minute later by Don Carberry for the visitors. For the balance of this play and the complete second chukker the attack of both teams fizzled out as they approached the goal with the defensive work of Bill Gill standing out.

In the third chukker Bill Gill made his first goal one third the way through which was matched by Jack Ehmer before this chukker was over.

In the fourth chukker Gill put the visitors in the lead after one minute of play and from then on to the end of the game the spectators witnessed some of the hardest riding they have seen this season.

Gus Breene tied up the score for the home team and it was not until the last half minute that Ehmer made his third goal assuring the Bishop Hollow team the victory.

The season's hardest riding game took place on the grounds of the Bishop Hollow Polo Club's field, Sunday, Sept. 29th. The Media All Stars couldn't hold their lead and settled for a 2 to 2 game with the Rosemont Polo Club.

The scoring started when Buddy Maloney hit the goal post half way through the first chukker which was followed by another goal by his father, Wes Maloney, in the second chukker. In the meantime, they kept the Rosemont team away from their goal on a man to man defense.

In the third chukker Buddy Maloney driving in from behind the goal posts had the ball intercepted by Don Carberry who took a swipe at the ball and sent it through the uprights. This was followed five minutes later when in a furious scrimmage around the goal, George Flanagan drove a second goal to tie up the game, from then on including the over time period neither team could gain an advantage.

N. Y. Area Polo

The Farmington (Conn.) Polo Club retained the W. Cameron Forbes Cup by turning back a Blind Brook quartet, 7 to 6, in the final round match at the Blind Brook Polo Club, Purchase, N. Y., on Sunday, Sept. 29.

A four-goal outbreak by the victors in the last two chukkers gave them the triumph. When Al Marenholz notched his third goal of the game two minutes from the final bell, Farmington has the decision.

Tommy Glynn made three of Blind Brook's goals and Bill Westerlund one. The losers had a two-goal handicap at the start.

Bark Hickox and Archie Young accounted for six goals between them as the Brookville side defeated the Aiken Regulars, 9 to 5, at Bethpage (L.I.) State Park.

At Jericho, L.I., Vince Rizzo paced the scorers with three tallies as the Piping Rock poloists took the measure of the Aiken All-Stars, 8 to 5, in a benefit match for the Suffolk County Multiple Sclerosis Fund. The game was played at the Meadow Brook Club. B.B.

third position just off Ancestor, Shipboard and Independence were next, followed by Tarboots. In the run to the wire, Caste fell away, as did Independence, while out in front Neji crossed the finish line seven in front. Ancestor was next, a length to the fore of Shipboard, while Tarboots finished strongly to be fourth, half a length in front of Caste. Independence was sixth.

Neji's Feat Unparalleled

Neji's feat in carrying 173 lbs., to victory is unparalleled in modern steeplechasing in this country. Thirty years ago, Jolly Roger attempted it, but was beaten by Fairmount under 170 lbs. In 1936, Bushranger carried 172 lbs. to win the Grand National, and these are the only two which have carried weight in the seventies. A proven weight carrier all during his racing career, Neji has won 15 out of his thirty-eight starts and has only been out of the money eight times.

The L. E. Stoddard

Earlier in the day, a disqualification marred the $10,000 L. E. Stoddard for three-year-olds. F. Eugene Dixon's My Last Try, ridden by Jimmy Hobales went to the front early, then was taken back as Gridiron and Tombigbee went out to set the pace. Midway down the far side, Gridiron started to drop back, and Tombigbee went into command. This was short lived however, for on the inside My Last Try drew even, then took a narrow lead, while on the outside of the Cardy horse, Sun Dog ranged up to challenge. Rounding the last turn, Tombigbee was in between horses, and it appeared that Hobales on My Last Try bore out to interfere with Tombigbee. Crossing the wire, My Last Try was a length and a half to the good with Sun Dog next. Ten lengths away, Tombigbee finished third, while Gridiron was an equal distance back for fourth. After reviewing the film of the race, the Stewards disqualified My Last Try from first place, and moved him back to third behind Sun Dog and Tombigbee.

Policeman Day Wins

The day before Walter M. Jeffords' Policeman Day mildly surprised by sticking it out for two miles in the Turf Writers' Cup over Hurdles. Ridden by Jimmy Murphy, Policeman Day carried 148 lbs., and was close to the leaders for four of five fences, then punched his way between horses going by the stands the first time, and was never headed thereafter, winning by ten lengths. Albert Foot on Allison Stern's Greek Brother was the runner-up, and after the race, was Albert Foot hot, brother. He claimed foul stating that Murphy had interfered with his mount as he went to the front passing the stands. After a delay of almost twenty minutes, the Stewards disallowed the claim. *Arywa and Navy Fighter shared the lesser awards in the order named. Both *Langton Breeze and *Darubini, which had run so well 10 days earlier in the Rouge Dragon, disappointed badly, both being prominent for about a mile, and then failing to threaten. Whitewood Stud's *Sea Lord, which was brought over here by plane from France a short while ago to run in this race, ran well for about a mile and then quit suddenly, just about where the foul was allegedly committed.

Cherry Malotte 'Cap

Earlier on the program, a field of eight brush horses went postward in the Cherry Malotte Handicap at two miles and a furlong, and the upset winner was Mrs. C. E. Adams' Air School, a recent hurdle winner. A four-year-old, he carried 136 lbs., and won the race on superior fencing. Ridden by Joe Aitcheson, Air School went to the lead midway through around, and then benefitted by the mistakes of his competition. Pine Shot, running closest jumped better than the others, while *Narcissus 2nd, top weight under 160 lbs., found the task beyond his ability and lost ground at his fences. Rounding into the stretch, Air School held a narrow lead, turned back a game challenge from Billing Bear going to the last fence, and then held off Pine Shot on the flat to score by a neck. It was another neck back to Carthage for third, while *Narcissus 2nd was a close up fourth three parts of a length off Car-

Bold Ruler, who was getting his ninth victory of the year and pushing his earnings near the half-million-dollar mark, ran the 1 1/16th miles over a fast track in the good time of 1:42 4/5, only 4/5ths away from the track record which he might have equalled or bettered had Eddie Arcaro let him have his head. He did set a record in winning the seven-furlong Vosburgh Handicap in his previous start. His only loss of recent date was to Dedicate and *Gallant Man in the Woodward and there the distance was 10 furlongs, just a mite over the limit set for himself by the son of *Nasrullah-Miss Disco.

For this department's money, a meeting between Decathlon and Bold Ruler at six or seven furlongs would be much more of an attraction than the proposed donnybrook between Round Table and *Gallant Man. They would have to protect the furlong poles with asbestos slipcovers for that one.

Keeneland

Mrs. Mary V. Fisher's homebred Fulcrum, by Spy Song-Fulmar, edged out Hasty House Farm's Can Trust, a son of On Trust, in the $63,975 44th edition of the Breeders' Futurity here last Saturday. The news here is that Fred W. Hooper's Alhambra, the 2-to-5 favorite, finished a sulking fourth. Crimson King Farm's Nunya was four lengths ahead of Alhambra in third place. All shouldered 122 pounds and the winner, getting his third victory in seven starts, went the distance of 7 furlongs, 184 feet (the Beard course) in 1:26 2/5.

Suffolk Downs

Shortest distance between two points is a straight line as C. L. Dupuy's Galdar demonstrated to Irving Gushen's Star Rover, Saturday in the 19th running of the Puritan Handicap here. Galdar, carrying 115 pounds, Jorge Contreras and the second longest odds on the board, won by a length while Star Rover went almost to the outside fence with young Dave De Roin. Audley Farm's Bull Strength, which had led into the stretch, was third. Gerald Colella's Switch On, the favorite, finished next to last. It was the first victory of the year for the 6-year-old gelded son of Rustom Sirdar-Knight's Gal, by Bright Knight.

Belmont Park & Jamaica

New York's most handsome horse park, the one where a chap is lucky to see a horse at all between the time the field leaves the paddock and returns there, closed out one of its most brilliant seasons last Monday with the 87th presentation of the Ladies Handicap over a 1 1/2-mile course at scale weights. The winner was George D. Widener's Rare Treat, 5-year-old daughter of Stymie-Rare Perfume, by Eight Thirty, who barely wore down her opposition in the closing strides under a vigorous ride from Paul Bailey. Morty Freedman's Gay Life, an outsider with the young Irish apprentice Johnny Ruane in the irons, was beaten only a half length though not good enough for the winner, while C. V. Whitney's Snow White, with Eldon Nelson aboard, was lapped on the latter's flanks in third place. It was only another 1 1/2 lengths back to King Ranch's Dotted Line in fourth place. C. T. Chenery's Williamette was a disappointing 11th in the field of 12.

THE CHRONICLE

Treat topweight of the dozen, giving 11 pounds to runnerup Gay Life and 5 pounds to Snow White which took the lead in the stretch, but faltered under Gay Life's challenge. Bred by her owner, Rare Treat was accounting for her first stakes victory at Belmont though she won an overnight handicap there last month. This was her third victory in 14 starts this semester.

Activities were launched at Jamaica for the autumn on last Thursday with another event for the feminine runners. B. A. Dario's Venomous, with Walter Blum up, was all out from start to finish to win the 36th running of the Interborough Handicap by a length from William Haggin Perry's favored Alanesian. The latter had interference, however, from her own stablemate, Outer Space, and while she couldn't haul down Venomous she was the better of Reginald N. Webster's Sorceress which finished another half-length back in third. Time for the 6 furlongs was 1:11 1/5. Venomous is a New England-bred, 4-year-old daughter of Mel Hash-Spiteful Sue, by Heather Broom.

went to work on his young mount and drew away in the uphill drive to the wire to win by 3 lengths. Out of Reach was best of the balance, finishing 2nd, 10 lengths clear of T. J. Albert's Clean Home, with amateur rider T. J. Albert, III in the saddle. John W. Hanes' Terrible Turk completed the field as George T. Weymouth's *Ship Ahoy 2nd fell over the 11th fence, sending Murt Hoey to the local hospital for examination. The winner negotiated the "about" 2 miles and 12 brush fences in 3:34 3/5.

In the Riddle Cup, a 1-mile turf test, the Dixon-trained horses finished 1-2, as Mrs. William Coxie Wright's *The Saint II, turned back C. Mahlon Kline's Dark Horizon by 1 1/2 lengths. It turned out to be a family affair as Mrs. William H. Dixon, a daughter-in-law, reaped 3rd money with her *Ante Up 2nd, trained by her husband. A field of 12 contested the issue and Dark Horizon, under R. M. Gilpin, held sway until the stretch run. In winning his 2nd race in this country, *The Saint 2nd was timed in 1:48 for the "about" 1 mile over turf.

The Foxcatcher Plate

Only a trio of chasers came out for the Foxcatcher Plate, a 2 mile handicap over the brush course. Currently leading the brush division and hoping to emulate last year's leadership for the UHRA's $1,000 award to the winner at the close of the season, Mrs. A. J. Smithwick's Crag shouldered the topweight of 148 pounds, an overweight of 5 lbs. more than allotted by the handicapper. Leading for 6 of the 12 jumps under Paddy Smithwick, Crag gave way as Ed Deveau and C. Mahlon Kline's Pine Shot moved on to win by 4 1/2 lengths. Running 3rd throughout, Mrs. Vernon G. Cardy's *Montadet finished in that position. The winner registered 3:35 2/5 for this distance, a bit slower than the time recorded by his stablemate, Gridiron.

Meeting 5 route runners in the Autumn Stayers' Plate, a 1 1/2 miles turf race, a home-bred owned by C. Mahlon Kline left no doubt that the day belonged to trainer Dixon and jockey Deveau. A 3-year-old by Mr. Kline's stallion, Slam Bang, out of Gala Spirit, made hash of his field by scoring a 6-length victory over Deo Delight, a 3-year-old home-bred, carrying the silks of George T. Weymouth. Taking the lead from J. G. Leiper Jr.'s Blue Jack at the 1 mile distance, Deveau and his mount drew out to win in an easy fashion. Holding well, Blue Jack gained 3rd money, 3/4's of a length behind Deo Delight and the same margin in front of W. Burling Cocks' Hunt Liege. After showing early foot, Joseph L. Aitcheson's Melbroke tired and finished last in the race which was run in 2:44 2/5.

As usual, the 6-furlong race for local land owners opened the program, and as usual local landowners filled the event well. A dozen went postward and at the conclusion, Mrs. J. Tilden Pennick's Perform emerged the victor. Giving jockey A. Seldomridge his first winning mount, the 4-year-old gelding by Johns Joy-Show Time defeated A. J. Delloso's Por-thos 2nd by a 1/2 length. Scramble, also representing Mrs. Pennick, finished 3rd, 3/4's of a length behind in the close finish.

Summaries will appear next week.

MUSIC BY LESTER LANIN

The dance music of well known orchestra leader Lester Lanin will add zest to the ball following the Virginia Fall Race Meeting on Saturday, November 2nd. This affair is held annually for the benefit of the Associated Hospitals and the dance will take place at the Middleburg Community Center. M. T.

SPUTNIK LOCKED UP

According to columnist Barney Nagler, those who feel that they have a yearling who can travel as fast as the Russian-launched satellite had better find some name other than Sputnik. A telephone call to The Jockey Club a couple of days after the news of the satellite broke revealed the fact that the name had been reserved by Greentree Stable.

BARN BURNS

A fire, thought to be caused by a short circuit, destroyed one of the barns of the West Hills Stables, shortly after midnight, Sunday, October 13th. Nine horses, including four polo ponies, and tack were lost.
The Huntington, L. L., stables are run by the Rizzo family. The family has produced some of the top teams of the indoor polo circuit and has many tournament wins to its credit, including several Sherman trophies.

CLASS FOR CLOWNS

A special class for laughs at the Westmoreland Hunt Horse Show was the "Over 18 years Junior Bareback, Riding Double over Low Fences". The entries were Daniel P. Lenehan and John Slaughter on Peaches n' Cream, a 14.2 pony.
Albert and Teddy Thomas on Curiosity.
J. R. Murray and Wm. Jeffrey on Lady Grey. Eli Scuri and Archie Stauffer on Grey Joe.

The Lenehan, Slaughter entry was first to go and after one turn of the ring "THEY" decided the rule was once around. After the last fence Johnny Slaughter was eager to dismount, consequently he did not do it gracefully. All entries got around and the Judges requested them all to "jog" into the ring. It was then the back seat riders, tightened their clutch, seeing this they were requested to ride with "no hands" and at a canter. The backseat boys sure seemed to have a lot of friends they had to wave to, it was touch and go and the gents in the drivers seat were having the laugh until the announcer, Harry B. Black, called "now everybody no hands" the Lenehan and Slaughter team as well as the Thomas brothers did very well but the others had some trouble keeping in a canter and not making a dash for the out gate. C.B.B.

NATIONAL SPORTING LIBRARY

The National Sporting Library, Middleburg, Virginia, has been the recipient of many fine books donated to further the sportsman's interest in events past and present. A partial list of volumes recently added to the Sporting Library by Mr. Paul Mellon of Upperville, Va., are Henry Aiken's The National Sports of Great Britain; John Bigland's A Natural History of Animals; Ernest Bland's Flat Racing Since 1900; Alfred Cope's Cope's Racegoer's Encyclopedia; Gordon Grand's The Southborough Fox, Colonel Weatherford's Young Entry and Colonel Weatherford and His Friends (in two volumes); David Gray's Gallops I and II, and his Mr. Carteret; M. B.'s The Thunderer; W. J. McKay's
The Evolution of the Endurance, Speed and Staying Power of the Racehorse; J.
Stanley Reeve's Foxhunting Formalities and W. S. Vosburgh's Racing in America 1866-1921.

CALIFORNIA CALLS

Nancy Law, our correspondent from Cincinnati, has decided to pick up stakes and move to La Jolla, California or near abouts for business reasons. Miss Law has ably and faithfully covered horse shows and allied events for us for a good many years. Ohio's loss is California's gain and we wish her the best of luck. M. T.

HUNTING WITH ARAPAHOE

Hunting with the Arapahoe this fall are Mr. and Mrs. Uvedale Lambert from Blechingley, Surrey, England. Mr. Lambert is one of the Joint Masters of the Old Surrey and Burstow Hunt and he and Mrs. Lambert are familiar visitors at the Arapahoe. Mrs. Lambert is the former Melanie Grant, daughter of the Arapahoe's beloved Honorary Secretary and former Master, William W. Grant, O. B. E., whose passing last summer was a distinct loss to the hunt as well as to the community. H.N.

PARADE OF IROQUOIS HOUNDS

The parade of the Iroquois hounds provided a brief and colorful intermission in mid-afternoon of Oct. 5th during the Iroquois Hunt Club Horse Show. Joint-Master W. F. Pursley took the pack around the course, assisted by the Hon-Whipper-In Daniel Murphy. The well disciplined behavior of the pack was an especially rewarding sight for the staff and those members of the Iroquois Hunt who have been roading hounds all through the past summer.

DR. KASCHULA RESIGNS

Dr. Victor R. Kaschula of Rutgers University, research specialist in animal pathology, has recently resigned to go to Northern Nigeria for the study of tropical diseases. Three years ago Dr. Kaschula instituted a research project in equine influenza which has produced a workable vaccine soon to be marketed. He also started a research project in connection with 24 foals of 1956 on whom blood tests and bone studies are being made at three-month intervals. Participating in these studies are the veterinarians Dr. Harold M. S. Smith of Hanover, Carl Lohmeyer of Far Hills, Robert Ticehurst of Red Bank and Roger Maloney of Moorestown.

VIRGINIA HORSE SHOWS ASSOC. EQUITATION FINALS

The results of the Virginia Horse Shows Association equitation finals held at Charlottesville on October 6 are listed

Chronicle Cover

One of the most versatile Thoroughbreds of recent times is Mrs. R. H. Dulaney Randolph's chestnut gelding Frank Thomas (Bobby Sweep-Madwena, by Peter Pan). During the course of his career - he is now fourteen years old - he has raced on the flat, in point-to-points, has shown in working hunter classes and in hunter trials, and has been ridden not only by Mrs. Randolph, but by various nieces in children's classes. He is one of the best hunters that ever looked through a bridle. During 1954, the last year in which he was shown, he accounted for 16 championships including the Champion Field Hunter of Virginia Event. He has a most sprightly way of going and bounces over his fences like a rubber ball.

The cover picture was painted in front of "Old Welbourne", the Randolph place near Upperville, Va.

Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II, with former Secretary of the Treasury, George M. Humphrey, photographed in the limousine in which they rode to the Middleburg Training Track. The royal couple inspected 18 yearlings and Kent Miller's famed steeplechaser, Elkridge.

Written phase - 1. Sara Willis; 2. Kathy Kusner; 3. Bucky Reynolds; 4. Richard Zimmerman.

Final, taking 66 2/3 for riding and 33 1/3 for written - 1. Bucky Reynolds; 2. Sara Willis; 3. Richard Zimmerman; 4. Mary Scott Blake.

MRS. RICE TO RECEIVE

KTBA AWARD

Mrs. Ada L. Rice, owner with her husband of Danada Farms, Lexington, Ky., and Wheaton, Ill., has been named the 1957 recipient of the annual Ladies Sportsmanship Award by the Kentucky Thoroughbred Breeders Association. The presentation will be made at the KTBA dinner Nov. 9 in Louisville. F.T.P.

J. H. STOTLER

Joseph H. (Bud) Stotler, trainer of Discovery and other great horses, recently died in Baltimore at the age of 69. He had been virtually retired since an automobile accident in 1939 from which he never fully recovered.

NONSENSE DEPARTMENT

A recent issue of Horse and Hound notes the following chatty piece about the Doncaster yearling sales from one of London's evening papers:

"Sir Gordon Richards tried out a bay colt by Aureole out of Macrocarpa; he went for a canter round the paddock. 'I am delighted with him and will buy him if the price is right,' said Sir Gordon as he dismounted."

Fortunately the next sales will be held at Newmarket where the Heath will provide more room for "trying-out" these youngsters before buying!

VITERBO THREE DAY EVENT

At the recent Three Day Event held at Viterbo, Italy, Major D. Susanna accomplished the remarkable feat of riding three horses and taking first, third and fourth places with them.
